ABOUT US

Born from a small idea that turned into a big worldwide movement, the Bureau of Middle East Recycling was formed in 2008 with a vision to be the voice of the recycling industry in the Middle East.

BMR has a unified objective to bring every one of the recycling businesses in the Middle East under one platform for representation. Over the years BMR has become an organization that represents and acts as a podium for all processors, traders, indentors, machine manufacturers, shipping and logistics agents, associations & media of the recycling industry. It is a major benefactor to protecting the environment. BMR is proud to be a non-religious, and a non-political organization that through its diverse recycling processes helps the metal recycling industry grow, expand knowledge about the recycling market, and helps the traders and suppliers face the financial crises in the face of new challenges.

With the Middle East being one of the leading geographical factors that encompass the map for the recycling industry, BMR helps the industry deal with million tons of scrap yielding billions of dollars each year while promoting recycling awareness.
